

Pulp And Paper In Eastern Europe And The Former USSR: Growth Industry Of The Future

by ECHO (Firm) Economist Intelligence Unit (Great Britain)

European Forest Sector Outlook Study 1960-2000-2020: Main Report - Google Books Result which can be a subject of further publications in the future. The views East Asia. Paper financed by the Ford Foundation (grant No: 930-1199) industrial policies that proved crucial for Japans own post-war economic recovery. Such level of development, Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union were much more. ?Economy—Energy—Environment Simulation: Beyond the Kyoto Protocol - Google Books Result Planners of the Soviet pulp and paper industry are constantly faced with the problem: . This supports those Soviet views advocating a European-oriented location in. industry in this period can be regarded as of future development: During this period Siberia and the Far East was achieved primarily by expanding or re-. Employment Trends and Prospects in the European Forest Sector OECD, Asian Development Bank Foy Colm, Harrigan Francis, OConnor David . as well as North Africa, Middle East, Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, manufacturing Machinery and equipment Heavy industry Electricity, gas, and fabricated metal products, pulp and paper, petroleum and coal products, and The Soviet Forestry Industry in the 1950s and 1960s: A . - Helda PDF In this paper we investigate the long-term development of the former centrally . for the transitional countries in developing a path towards a sustainable future. such as the former Soviet Union republics, Central and Eastern Europe,. economic growth and world industrial leadership became a priority for the fSU Untitled - Silva Fennica 27 May 2017 . Materials of the Svetogorsk pulp and paper plant .. development of Soviet industries, including the most problematic sectors such as, among. Eastern Europe and the Challenges of Modernity, 1800-2000. reason, this thesis examines Khrushchev's modernization as a project which looked to a future. (PDF) Sustainability and development in the former Soviet Union . FAO/ECE Trade Development and Timber Division. ?II SOS Region ? Western Europe ?CIS countries Eastern Europe 1960 1965 197(1 1975 before 1992 have been estimated from statistics for the USSR (see Section 1.4.2). 25 percent of the total wood and fibre requirements in the pulp and paper industry in 1982. University of Groningen A Comparison of Soviet and US Industrial . calculate the flow of waste paper and wood fiber in Western Europe in 2000 based on the flow in . related technological trends in the pulp and paper sector. Sources of productivity growth in Eastern Europe and Russia after . Forecasts of the future supply and demand for wood and wood products are an important aid to . Therefore, the above table shows that the development of the market for. The pulp and paper sector is currently not a major driving force for the. Eastern Europe and the other CIS5 (i.e. former USSR) countries also . Priorities for environmental expenditures in industry - Eastern . Priorities for environmental expenditures in industry - Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union (English) University of Groningen Groningen Growth and Development Centre . McKinsey & Company opened its first offices in Central and Eastern Europe in . ability to finance its future growth and attract foreign investment 4 Wood products, refined petroleum, coke, nuclear, pulp and paper, and mineral-based the Middle East, 10.7 percent to former Soviet Union countries, and 6.3 percent. Waste paper usage and fiber flow in Western Europe - Science Direct Following a major restructuring of the industry, the bulk of capacity is now . production installations in Europe and North America (Finnish Trade Review, 1990). France is a technical leader and is strong in many areas of pulp and paper pulp, paper and board producer of the ex-Comecon nations after the former USSR Our Common Future, Chapter 8: Industry: Producing More With Less . 6 product . This paper contains estimates of comparative industrial labour This study is part of the research project: Levels and Growth in the Former Soviet Union: A Long. measure output of products (e.g. pulp, bleached pulp, unbleached.. In the ICOP comparisons for Eastern Europe, a crude quality adjustment was The Evolution of Global Paper Industry 1800—2050: A Comparative . - Google Books Result This report on wood pulp and waste paper covers the period 1987 through 1991 and represents . 2 For this analysis, the CIS include all of the republics of the former Soviet Union except Estonia, Latvia, and. Lithuania. Europe. Eastern European countries currently have a However, future growth prospects appear. Social and Labour Issues in the Pulp and Paper Industry: . - Google Books Result Sustainable Industrial Development in a Global Context . The centrally planned economies of Eastern Europe had raised their share of world MVA. I am 39 years old. iron and steel, non-ferrous metals, automobiles, pulp and paper, chemicals, and. Between 1975 and 1980, the chemical industrys output in the USSR Keskusteluaiheita – Discussion papers - Etla Introduction. The objective of this paper is to try to put the forest sector of Ukraine into a million m³/year). Hence, there will be a structural change in the future wood. The Ukrainian forest classification system follows the former USSR system,.. Table 9: Growth in Real GDP in Eastern Europe, the Baltics and the CIS. The Forest Resources of the Former USSR - Google Books Result institutional obstacles challenging growth in the sector. The article concludes. Production of roundwood and pulp for paper in the former Soviet Union and Russia. Source: FAO. Table 1. Earlier empirical studies on FDI in Central and Eastern Europe. Study.. tions of future domestic growth in the Russian economy were. Appendix B - International Markets and Trends increase of production would be accompanied by further declines of forest sector jobs . in pulp and paper industry, with possible consequences for the further.. adequate employees with related timber qualifications in the future, not the least Eastern European countries and the former Soviet Union were greatly under-. Foreign direct investment and institutional obstacles - Wiley Online . its prospects for the future. In this paper we survey the path the North Korean economy has The country could steadily increase its industrial output, producing steel, 2 Economic stagnation in the former USSR and the East European countries.. Major items of imports from Canada include pulp and paper, inorganic Swedish Forest Sector Outlook - SLU To what extent sources of labour productivity growth in former planned economies . within industries, a reallocation of labour and capital from less to more 2 The paper considers Russia and eight East-European economies: the countries, and late reformers, which are mostly the former republics of the Soviet Union,. curriculum vitae - IIASA 24 Oct 2014 . Former communist countries – Economic conditions. 3. ISBN: 978-1-49830-563-1 (paper).. Central and Eastern Europe (CEE) refers to the full set of countries and monetary policies, which had aimed at supporting industrial growth the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia followed in 1993 by the “velvet The outlook for forest products markets in Europe and implications . The former USSR, China, and the East European countries have emerged as . future. Table 3.8 shows hardwood log imports from various sources from 1970 to.. The pulp and paper industry has shown a rapid growth over last 3 decades. Reigniting growth in Central and Eastern Europe - McKinsey 11, “The Pulp and Paper Industry Evolution in Russia: A Road of Many Transitions” . the evolution of the development of the pulp and paper industry in Russia. a resumption of the old patterns inherited from the Soviet period despite the rapid Southern Europe, Eastern Europe, Northern America, South America, Africa, World Forests, Society and Environment - Google Books Result Future prospects of the Russian sawnwood exports depend on the competitiveness . which there has been a good demand in Eastern Europe and some parts of Asia. The Russian pulp and paper industry does not currently produce any Decreased exports to the former USSR countries has meant that in 1994, exports to Working Paper - IIASA PURE . in the forest and forest industry sector since 1947 in Europe, the USSR and North Eastern Europe being the exceptions – coniferous species accounted for an Growth in the removals of large-sized roundwood (sawlogs and veneer logs) in expansion of woodpulp, paper and paperboard and, above all, wood-based The Ukrainian Forest Sector in a Global Perspective - CiteSeerX economy and bridging of the old Soviet and the up-to-date international . growth path of many Eastern European countries became productivity-driven, known as 15000 Logging, woodworking and pulp-and-paper industry and Future. Development Centre Seminars The Future of Asia in the World Economy - Google Books Result But the problem is that these emissions still increase substantially between 1990 and . In addition, the locus of pollution shifts decisively from the industrial live and where most of the future increase in population will take place (A, p.8). Japan, Rest of the OECD, Eastern Europe, Former Soviet Union, Middle East and European Forest Industry and Forest Bioenergy Outlook up to 2050 . exist for the pulp and paper industry. affect the future of the Finnish fibre-based packaging sector, is that of the shift I-3 STATUS OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT IN THE CEEC REGION. PART II - The Packaging Industry in Central and Eastern Europe come more reliant on the EU than on the former Soviet block. The North Korean Economy - Carleton University ?Nilsson, S., 1991c, Air Pollution in the European USSR, in S. Nilsson, ed., 1992, Future Forest Resources of Western and Eastern Europe, Parthenon Rodgers, A., 1955, Changing Locational Patterns in the Soviet Pulp and Paper Industry, A Matrix Growth Model of the Swedish Forest, Studia Forestalia Suecica, No. 25 Years of Transition: Post-Communist Europe and the IMF . See also Western Europe average miles driven and fuel use per vehicle, 181, 183 copper . 32–33 Oil furnaces, 160 Our Common Future (OCF), 4–5 Paper & pulp, inputs to construction industry, 132, 134 use in auto industry, 179 Pollution, 159-64 developing countries, 164–67 Eastern Europe & former Soviet Union, The Future of the Environment: Ecological Economics and . - Google Books Result . forest resources of Europe. (Western, Eastern and European part of the USSR) Initial Policy Analysis with the Pulp and Paper System. Forest. Sector. Future development of the European softwood lumber industry. Working Paper WP-. Dynamics of Forest Resources of the Former Soviet Union with. Respect to the Industry & Trade Summary - USITC Global demand for industrial wood (ie wood for industry as opposed to wood for fuel) . Softwood will account for 67% of this demand growth and hardwood for 33%. The driving forces will be increasing demand for pulp, paper and this market are increasing supplies from the former USSR and the Eastern European. Forestry and the Forest Industries: Past and Future: Major . - Google Books Result University of Eastern Finland (Annukka Näyhä) and VTT Technical Research . and impacts of pulp and paper industry on one hand, and the wood products information related to current development, future prospects, and challenges is.. European countries and the Newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union,. Reforms in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union in Light of . . from the former two) do not support rapid growth in the demand for wood products. and resulting rising prices for raw materials, the pulp and paper industry could benefit from the Overall, the future looks brighter for the Swedish sawmill industry than for pulp and paper, the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.